Robotic Swing Test

"4 Yards More" Golf Tee was tested by the Golf Laboratories, Inc. in San Diego, CA. Robotized swing testing, is the standard used in new product testing by the USGA. The "4 Yards More" Golf Tee outdistanced the standard wooden tee by an average total distance of 3.9 yards. See the web site for complete test results.

"4 Yards More" Golf Tee construction technology allows longer drives

All sizes give you extra distance:

- 1 3/4 inch "Short Tee" perfect for Par 3s and driving with irons.
- 2 3/4 inch "Standard Tee" the ideal choice for most drivers and driving woods.
- 3 1/4 inch "Driver Tee" for the right launch angle on large head drivers.
- 4 inch "The Extreme" the longest allowed by USGA and R&A.

The Practical Field Test

The Industrial Research Center in Glen Mills, PA conducted a field test of the "4 Yards More" Golf Tee vs. wooden tees at Honeybrook Golf Club in Pennsylvania.

Ten golfers of varying handicaps (male and female) and abilities hit balls off wooden tees as well as the "4 Yards More" Golf Tee. The shots were measured and recorded by the research team. The "4 Yards More" Golf Tee outdistanced wooden tees overall by 4.2 yards. Consult the web site for research details.
